Human beings have always struck a contrasting difference from other species, thus challenging what was accepted as absolute truth and that is how humanity has progressed through centuries.

It was absolute truth that:

At night there will be darkness
Human beings can't fly Human voice can't go beyond a distance
Women are inferior and can't vote Slaves are slaves and should be flogged Kings are king and they have a right to rule Epidemics were a result of God's wrath and humans invented light and humans invented aircrafts and humans invented telephone and humans started feminism and humans eradicated the system and humans established democracy and humans created medicine

Now there are another set of ideas given as absolute truth;

Humanity needs weapons
Politics is dirty
Son is better than daughter Life depends on karma and destiny American life is more valuable than Syrian Money is the most important thing in life.
Better you mind your own business Fair skin gives confidence is it so? what amount of resources are wasted.

is it so? after all great leaders were involved in freedom struggle is it so? are both not humans with equal potentials?
is it so? or is it tying us down and stopping us from growing is it so? or above all is humanity is it so? can it buy happiness and love is it so? or you are connected with others is it so? or it is advertised for sheer profits of companies

These are just few examples. Observe the life around you. Identify and discuss your perspective with your family and friends. After enriching your views with these discussions, present the same in whatever form of talent that you are good at and send your entry for competition.
